Fire in Philadelphia

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of May 1st, says;

Last night, about 12 o'clock, a fire broke out in the northern end of the large rag and paper ware-house of Messrs Jessup & Moore, on the south side of east North street, below Sixth street. The wind was blowing freshly from the north east at the time, and the flames were carried through with fearful rapidity to the other extremity of the store, on Commerce street. The large structure was speedily enveloped in flames, which were carried by the force of the wind against the buildings adjoining, and they were soon in a light blaze.

To add to the disastrous effects of the fire the rags and paper were vomited forth from the windows and carried on the wind in a southwesterly direction, where they fell in a fiery shower. The firemen were soon in service, but it was speedily manifest that all the buildings west of the paper store to Sixth street, and south to Market street, must be involved in destruction. The State House bell was immediately struck for a general alarm, and its constant strokes brought to the ground the entire Department of the city.

The worst fears were soon realized. The buildings on both sides of East North street, and upon both sides of Commerce street, were soon in a light blaze. The Market street stores extended back to the last named street, and the flames were soon pouring out of the windows on to that avenue and threatening to extend to Chestnut street. By 2 o'clock, the western end of the block bounded by Market, North and Sixth streets, was in flames, and the wind had carried the burning flakes into the block immediately west of the main body of the conflagration. Back of the western side of Sixth street, a large school-house belonging to the Society of Friends, a carpenter shop, and several small dwellings, were in flames and burning furiously.

The roofs of two large stores on the lower side of Market street, below Sixth, took fire, and the roofs of two buildings on the west side of Sixth street, below Market, were in flames by 3½ o'clock

The scene was now most frightful—the flames shot high up in the air, illuminating the entire city, and threatening to destroy entire blocks to the windward. Commerce and North streets were in flames, and fires were raging upon both sides of Market and Sixth streets. The wind which was increasing in strength, was carrying a fiery shower to a great distance; all around the scene of devastation persons were hurrying away their families and their goods to places of safety. The firemen, bewildered and distracted at the insufficiency of the means at their command in comparison with the vastness of the field of exertion before them, struggled manfully with the destroying element, and under the judicious command of their officers did the best they could.

The fire continued to spread until after daylight, and when the sun rose, a sickening scene of destruction was exhibited. Every building on the north side of Market street, from the unfinished iron structure at No. 19, to Sixth street, was in ruins, and most of the houses on the east side of Sixth street, to North street were down. The western ends of North and Commerce streets were in ruins, while ugly gaps were made in the blocks south and west of the bounds described. Some 40 building were destroyed, many of them stores of great value.

Fireman Killed.

Mr. John R. Groff, a member of the Perseverance Hose Company, residing at No. 69 Race street, while engaged at the fire, was crushed by falling walls, and instantly killed. His body was recovered, and the Coroner will hold an inquest this afternoon.

Mr. Groff was a returned volunteer, and had served in the Mexican war. He was not married.

Man Stabbed.

During the progress of the fire a row occurred in Sixth, above Market street, between a number of adherents of two fire companies, and in its course a young man, named James Bartley, member of the Franklin Hose Company, was stabbed in the right breast, just above the nipple. He was conveyed to the Hospital, and it is supposed that there is no hope of his recovery.

The loss by this fire amounted to $600,000. On which there was an Insurance of $350,000

The Pittsburg Express fishes up the following paragraph from a paper published in 1707: On a passage to Jamaica with troops on board, a little boy, who was a fifer, sitting on a gunwale, by a sudden roll of the ship, fell overboard and was directly swallowed by a shark. A hook was baited with a piece of beef and thrown over the stern, which was seized by the shark and he was presently hauled on board. On opening the shark the boy was found snugly seated between two ribs, and quite unconcerned playing a tune on his fife.

Ellsworth, Maine.—The Catholic church in Ellsworth, Me., was burned on April 28th. Loss $20,000. No insurance.

Savannah.—The steamer Thomas G. Haight, was burned at Savannah on the 20th April. Loss $30,000.

The Bayonet Drill, and the New Drill.

The Boston Dispatch says;

Many of our military people confound the bayonet drill with Hardee's system of tactics for Light Infantry and Riflemen. This is a mistake. The bayonet exercise was introduced to the U. S. Army, about six years since, and has become a part of the daily drill of every infantry soldier. It has been practised in our State Militia, more or less by several companies. The first, we believe, was the Worcester City Guard, at that time under the command of Capt. Goodhue. The Boston City Guard, commenced the exercise some time since, but never made much progress in it. The Boston Cadets have given a considerable attention to it, and have given a number of public exhibitions of their proficiency in it. The Salem Cadets are now practicing it. It is an excellent and healthy exercise, as all the muscles of the body are brought into play by the different thrusts and parries, vaults and leaps to the rear. The bayonet exercise for the U. S. Army by Captain George B. McClellan was published in 1852. The edition being exhausted, a new one has been published, and we advise our military friends to obtain the work. This drill is of great service to every soldier, who may expect to have his services called into requisition; it gives one a perfect command of the musket, enables him to defend himself, when isolated, or acting as a skirmisher.

The "blow to the front is an excellent one to practice against a mob in the street, that may crowd upon us, getting within our guard, and endeavoring to throw up our muskets. Hardee's drill or the new drill as it is generally styled, consists nearly of an adaptation of our present system of tactics, to a greater rapidity in the execution of the several manœuvers. For instance, a company of Light Infantry is marching in company of platoons, and wished to form to the left into line. In the infantry drill they would halt, left dress, and then, "by platoons left into line wheel;" in the new drills without any previous order to halt, the order is given, while the company are on the march, "left into line wheel," March. The guides instantly halt, at the order March, and the men wheel into line as in the old drill. The only company that we have yet heard of as giving a public exhibition of this drill, is the Salem Cadets, at their last May training. This drill is now published and adopted in the army, and is useful for our militia to learn, as they may be called upon to practice as Light Infantry as well as Infantry. All the riflemen are required to drill by this system, but we believe none of them as yet have practiced it, at least we have never seen them drill by this system, at any of our encampments. In a future number we will give a more particular description of Hardee's drill.

Death of an Actress from Fire.—The New York Evening Post gives the following particulars of the death by burning of M'lle Pauline Genet, a French actress of some note, at Niblo's on the evening of the 26th ult.: "During one of the entractes the bells began ringing for fire, and M'lle Genet sprang into a chair and thence into a window, to try and discover where the fire was. In this position her gauze dress accidentally came in contact with the light of a gas burner, and she was immediately enveloped in flames. A little girl from behind exclaimed, 'Pauline, you are on fire!'

"Miss Genet, in her terror, instead of grasping her dress and smothering the flame, tried to extinguish it by shaking her dress in the air. This, of course, only made matters worse, and rushing from the room she ran down stairs. Her mother tried to throw something upon her to smother the flames, and a gentleman with an overcoat in his arms tried to fling it around her, but in vain, she would allow no one to touch her. The fire soon burned through her light clothes into her flesh, and the only way it could be extinguished was by those who were near rushing upon her and tearing her clothes from her piecemeal. Her limbs, especially her arms, were shockingly burned.

"She was but nineteen years old, and came out from France with an engagement at Niblo's for a year. Her character was exemplary, and she lived very retired with her mother, Mrs. Josephine Genet, who will soon return to France."

Philadelphia.—The non-accepting fire companies of Philadelphia are gradually becoming wearied of being out of service, and are petitioning the "Councils" to be admitted in the department. At the last meeting of the "Select Council," petitions were presented from the Mount Airy Engine and the Phœnix Hose Companies for admission. In the "Common Council" a resolution admitting the Good Will Engine, and the Niagara, United States, and Western Hose Companies, was adopted.

Portsmouth.—The City of Portsmouth, N. H has expended twenty-two thousand and fifty-six dollars and forty-one cents for its Fire Department during the past five years.

New York.—The New Haven and Harlem Railroad depot building, at the corner of White and Elm streets, New York, was destroyed by fire on the 4th of May. Loss $70,000—partially insured.

Taknig down a Cockney.

Our friend Bob Crandell visited England last summer. While stopping in the Metropolis, he happened to drop into a coffee house where a lot of Cockneys were speaking about the swimming powers of different individuals. One old gentleman said his friend William could swim five miles in forty minutes. Another allowed that Tibbets could do more than this. Tibbets, in some fifty-three minutes, having swam forty miles in seven hours. Just here, Bob asked if he might "offer a remark." The answer was, "Yes, certainly." On this, Bob opened:

"Your friend Tibbets is some swimmer, gentlemen, but his performance would be considered nothing in America. On the Mississippi, men swim with such rapidity that they go ahead and Pilot steamboats."

"Nonsense."

"No nonsense at all. To show you that I'm not joking in this matter, I'm willling to make a bet with any person present."

"What is it?"

"That I can outswim any man in England and give him an hour's start."

"For what sum, sir?"

"Any thing from fifty pounds to a California gold mine."

"We'll take that bet, sir, and put up a hundred pounds that you cannot beat Mullins and give him that start."

"Very good, I take the bet. There is twenty sovereigns to bind the bargain."

"When shall the swim come off?"

"Now—this very instant."

"That's preposterous. The day is too far spent."

"Day! Why, my dear sir, I intend to swim a week. In the United States, a week's swim is nothing."

"Possible?"

"Yes, sir. Harry Slocum, of New Orleans once swam from Charleston to Cuba. But this is wasting time. Let us proceed to business."

"Where do you wish to start from?"

"Lands End."

"Why there?"

"Because I intend to swim around the island, and wish lots of sea-room."

The idea of swimming around the Island of Great Britain, was something that Cockneydom had never heard of. Mullins said "such a pull would kill a 'orse,' but he was used to such things. Mullin persisted, however, in his refusal to undertake anything so "habsurd." In consequence of which, Mullins friends had to come out with a forfeit in the shape of a basket of Heidseick. During the remainder of Bob's stay in England, he was looked upon as "the 'Merican prodigy—the man who talked of swimming from Lunnun to Neva Scotia."

Alarm of Fire at Drury Lane Theatre.—Early yesterday morning there was an alarm of fire at Drury Lane Theatre, which arose under the following circumstances:—It appears that at the conclusion of the performances on Saturday night, the committee of the theatre, according to previous arrangement, arrived upon the stage for the purpose of witnessing some experiments with Phillips' patent Fire Annihilators, in order to test their applicability in case of fire occurring within the building. Mr. Curtis, the Secretary of the Annihilator Company, some of his men, and a number of machines were taken upon the stage, while the hands employed in the theatre were in other parts of the house, to be ready to assist in case anything should arise to demand their services. The performances commenced with a trial between the patent hand-pump, such as is used by the Fire Brigade, and one or two small annihilators, to see which could most speedily extinguish the lights burning in the battens over the stage. These battens are about forty feet high, and have each a great number of perforations to allow the gas to escape so as to illuminate the top of the stage and "borders." Three firemen, named Samuel Girard, John Jones, and J. Webster, were engaged working the hand-pumps and discharging water over the gas jets to ascertain which would most effectually extinguish the flame. The water from the pump for some time appeared to prove of more advantage than the small annihilating machines, when it was proposed by Mr. Curtis, the Secretary, that one of the larger machines, drawn upon two wheels, should be tried. This was accordingly done, the carriage having been placed near the centre of the stage, a large funnel, fifteen feet in length, was attached for the purpose of assisting the vapor to reach the gas burning in the batten. The signal having been given, the man in charge of the annihilator broke the bottle containing the acid, which ignited the composition, and the vapor commenced to escape, but in a few seconds the funnel, through which the gas generated in the machine was passing, blew off, and projected up to the flies, and lodged under the bridge of the stage in a heated state. At the same time, the cap or lid of the annihilator was blown off, which knocked down the man having charge of the apparatus, and passed by him to the distance of thirty-five feet. The machine then threw up such a vast body of fire that every one in the theatre apprehended its entire destruction. Fortunately, the firemen had taken the precaution to have their engines placed upon the stage and charged with water, and they were therefore enabled, without the least delay, to render their assistance. So great was the concussion caused by the explosion, that another annihilator standing on the stage rolled away, and having broken the iron and glass of five of the floats, it fell into the orchestra, demolishing one of the music-stands and upsetting the seats. This so alarmed the committee that they rushed out into the street, and a cry of "fire" was at once raised, which caused the engines to arrive in the course of a few minutes. The firemen connected with the theatre, however, managed to get the fire subdued before any great damage was done, the only part that was burnt through the surface of the wood-work being in a beam under the bridge of the first tier of flies. The man who had charge of the machine was severely burnt by the force of steam that escaped when the explosion took place. Mr. Tucker, the master carpenter, was also burnt in his hands by the rush of steam. A man named Watson was likewise badly burnt, and was taken to the hospital, but was soon enabled to return home. As to the precise cause of the explosion, nothing positive could be ascertained; but it is supposed that the lid or top of the machine could not have been securely fastened, as the machines are invariably strong enough to bear the force of the charge they contain.—London paper.

Dead.

Captain William M. McArdle, well-known as the commander of the City Guard, New York, died at Belleville, Austin county, Texas, on the 19th November last, where he was spending some time in the hope of restoring his health. He was greatly esteemed by his old companions of the Guard, whom he had for twenty years commanded, and they being resolved to honor his remains, sent for his body, that it might be interred in Greenwood Cemetery. It arrived in New York on the 27th of April (Sunday,) and the funeral took place on the following day. The display of Military upon the occasion is said to have been a magnificent one, and was taken part in by a large number of companies of New York, Brooklyn and Williamsburgh. From the New York Mercury we take the following:

"Too much cannot be said eulogistic of the military escort. There was the magnificent Light Guard, Capt. Vincent, which, in days of yore, with the City Guard, Capt. McArdle, were like two handsome women, for whose sphere the world was not large enough, on this occasion, in generous emulation, in sable memorial with the dead, buried the apple of discord, and presented their noble front in sympathy with the deecased. Then came Shumway's truly magnificent command of sixty men, moving and acting as a unit; then the famous Independence Guard, Capt. Boyle, whose late Captain (Cairns) the kindred soldier's spirit with McArdle, must have hovered over that never-failing alignment of his own instruction; then the Tompkins Blues, Capt. Barr, with martial bearing, and the elastic Garde Lafayette, with the Brooklyn companies of Light and City Guards, which, with Col. Postley's (who generously waived rank) showy regiment of Hussars, all united in rendering the military character of our municipal citizen troops a position in the memory of their military brothers, as well as upon civilians, that can only be equalled, upon some future occasion when the officers command—when the Almighty shall call to his presence, and release from his temporal duties, a line officer who, by unflinching independence of soul, manly spirit, and military bearing, has done his duty to the corps, to the service, and to his country.

"The body, in a costly coffin, was placed on the "limber" of a twelve-pounder gun, which was beautifully decorated with the colors of the regiment, and others under which Capt. McArdle had served. The whole was covered in with crape and black cloth, merely leaving the brazen, though silent throat of the gun, upon which the body reposed, peeping from the dark hues of death, whence no sound can wake the dead until the last trump shall call the soul and body to dread account."

A New Machine for Extinguishing Fires.—A Mr. Stone, of Philadelphia, has invented a machine for extinguishing fire in houses, or on board ships or steamboats. The apparatus is a revolving reservoir, about six inches in diameter, and seven inches high, which is intended to be placed under ceilings of rooms, under the roofs of houses, and under the decks of vessels. From this reservoir a pipe extends to the exterior of the building, or to the upper side of the deck of a vessel, wherever it is most convenient to connect with a fire plug, a fire engine or a force pump. The water, when forced into the reservoir, causes it by its internal machinery, to revolve, and as the openings from the reservoir are set at various angles in revolving, every part of the circle fifty feet in diameter is entirely flooded, the water being distributed upon the ceiling, or upon the under side of the roof, or the under side of the deck of a vessel.

Why is a corpulent man like a prudent printer? Because he is always on the look-out to save his fat.

A crazy man at Rochester entered one of the passenger cars on the Central Railroad, with nothing on but a hat, cloak, and a pair of boots. He took his seat in front of two old maids who were travelling with three band-boxes and a pet canary. Shortly after leaving Rochester, the atmosphere became so oppressive that "the strange looking gentleman" said he would hang up his cloak and "cool off a few." He rose up to do this, which gave rise to a screech on the part of the elderly ladies in the rear, that made the conductor suppose that he had run over four hogs and a German organ-grinder. He rushed to the ladies. The ladies pointed at the lunatic and fell back in a faint. Conductor says "shocking," and pulls the bell-rope. Train stops. Lunatic is encased in his cloak, and sent back to Rochester in company with a brakeman and a hickory club.

Mr. Rodman Meets a Lady.—A gentleman by the name of Rodman met a young lady in Broadway last week, and asked her to take a walk. The young lady assented, and they strolled up to the Park, where they sat down, and talked of morning-glories and paradise. After spending an hour there, the young lady informed Mr Rodman that she must start for home, as her "ma" expected her. Mr. Rodman expressed his regret, but as the young lady insisted, of course he had to yield. He accompanied her to the sidewalk, where they kissed and parted. Shortly after the young lady left, Mr. R. missed a sixty-dollar breast-pin. He fears the young lady took it when they were "swapping kisses." Just our opinion, exactly.

A duel took place, recently, near Paris, which was attended by singular circumstances. One of the combatants, having had the first fire, placed himself in an attitude to receive that of his adversary, who took a long and deliberate aim—the ball passed through his skull, and he died immediately. A few seconds afterwards his adversary also fell and expired, a ball having traversed his lungs; he had nevertheless retained sufficient strength to execute his deadly purpose. The combatants went into the field to revenge a double and reciprocal adultery.

A small keg, bound with brass hoops, filled with gold pieces to the amount of $1,000,000 (probably francs), believed to have been a French military chest, buried there in the year 1813, to hide it from the Russian Cossacks, has been found by a peasant boy near Schwez, on the Vistula.

A western editor, in speaking of a contemporary, says, all he wants is a fair chance, and he will make the meanest man ever seen outside of Connecticut. Complimentary, that.

Salem.—The expenditures of the city of Salem, Mass., for the Fire Department during the last year, amounted to about six thousand dollars, including the cost of one new engine, two new cisterns and a quantity of new hose.

Rochester.—The extensive iron works of the Novelty Company, Rochester, was destroyed by fire on May 2d. Loss $45,000; insurance, $15,000.

RUMOR.—There was a rumor on the street last night, that all the fire companies in the city had been called upon to rescue Charles P. Duane, who is now in the hands of the Vigilance Committee.

The above we clip from the True Californian of Monday, and most respectfully ask the conductor of that paper who their informant was, that appeared to be so well posted on the affairs of the Department, or did they allow the foul lie and libel upon the Fire Department to be given publicity solely on the authority of that most contemptable and yet most dangerous of all liars "Rumor." It does appear very strange to us that a paper professing to be the true exponent of the people, should insert an article calculated to injure a body of men like the firemen of this city, without first inquiring as to its truth. The firemen at the present time have enough to do to keep up their organization without being compelled to submit to the slanders of those who take no interest with them, except so far as their work is concerned. The firemen of San Francisco, as a body, take no interest in what has been transpiring for some time past. As individuals they do as they please, and are actuated by the same motives which prompt them never to interfere in politics, namely, the preservation of the organization. What is done by members in their individual capacity, the Department is not responsible for.

THE ORPHANS.—We are informed that the gentlemen who have the benefit in charge for the San Francisco Orphan Asylum, are unceasing in their efforts, to make it what it ought to be. to insure a full return to the little ones for whom it is intended. The performance will be of a nature well calculated to attract and please. A number of the best actors and actresses at present in the city have volunteered their services, and the inducements which will be offered for the public to patronise the occasion will be of a superior character. Among those who have come forward and volunteered their services are the talented actresses the Misses Gougenheims, whose re-appearance on the stage, we shall hail with satisfaction. The orphans benefit is announced for Thursday evening next, June 12th.

PACIFIC 8.—The house of Pacific 8, having been completely furnished it was thrown open to the public and their friends on Sunday last. It is most comfortably and richly furnished, and the good taste displayed in all the arrangements reflect considerable credit on those having the matter in charge. The sofas, chairs, Brussel carpets, window curtains, and in fact everything contained in the parlors, are of the plainest, but richest character. We do despise to see those "gay and flaunting tastes" manifested in the furnishing of an engine house, and in this respect No. 8, has thrown off the old established rule, and fited up the house in a style of neatness, comfort and richness, to be commended. We trust that the company will shortly be in possession of a new apparatus.

CHARLES E. BUCKINGHAM.—We welcome back to San Francisco with sincere pleasure the gentleman whose name heads this paragraph, not alone for his own sake but for the addition he has made to that society so greatly to be desired in this community. Mr. Buckingham was for a long time, Foreman of No. 5, and as its chief officer, did much by his liberality and bearing to his fellows in the ranks to add to that brilliant reputation which is accredited to the firemen of San Francisco. We presume under present circumstances it would be too much to expect to see him again in active firemanship, although at this time we should like to see every man who takes so deep an interest in the department as he does, on the active roll. At all events, however, his friendship will not grow the less for it. While congratulating Mr. B., we also congratulate No. 5, on his return.

JULIA DEAN.—By the next steamer Julia Dean, in company with Mr. Pope of the Broadway Theatre New York, will arrive in this city. So great has been the dearth in theatrical matter for a long time past, that the arrival of an actress of the abilities of Julia Dearn will be the means of reviving the taste for the Drama in the community. The Metropolitan Theatre management have secured the services of the talented lady, and she will make her appearance on or about the 25th of June.

SAN FRANCISCO HALL.—Although excitement runs rampant in the community, it is not of sufficient strength to deter people from visiting the Minstrels, as they have had full houses during the week. On Tuesday evening Eph Horn, took a benefit, and on last night Sam Wells, did the same. On both occasions the hall was crowded to excess.

BOARD OF DELEGATES.—The regular monthly meeting of the Board is called for Wednesday evening. Let there be a full attendance.

Items of General News.

It would be a great benefit to the city if the present excitement would subside. Business to a great extent has been suspended, and all description of men complain of the general inactivity, which is only displayed in warlike demonstrations.

This general disarrangement must materially injure all classes of citizens. The merchant, tradesman, laborer and professional man, all feel the condition of things. The same solemn stillnesprevades the Courts, The District Court adjourned until Monday the 9th of June. The 12th District Court adjourned to Saturday. The Superior Court to Monday and the Court of Sessions to the 24th inst.

The shipment of treasure by the departing steamer was rather large, amounting to $2,657,000.

It appears, from the best information that can be gathered, that the Vigilance Committee have sent away several persons out of this city, amongst them, Charles P. Duane, William Mulligan, Martin Gallagher, William Carr, Edward Bulger and Wooley Kearney. Three were sent on the Clipper-ship Adelaide, and the others on the Carrier Dove.

Alderman Corser, it appears, has resigned his post as Alderman, and departed upon the last steamer.

The steamer Goliah sails this day for the North.

The British Counsel at this place, has notified all H. B. M. subjects not to interfere against the authorites of the State, during the present disturbance. It is also said that the French Consul is doing the same.

It is stated that a body of United States troops have been detached to prevent the arms of the United States being taken away.

Another line of steamers is about to be put on between San Francisco and Washington Territory.

A fire occurred at Plimpton's Works, Plimptonville, Wallpole, Mass.: loss $5,000 to $10,000

A fire, the work of an incendiary, occurred on State street, Boston. Loss $800.

Jesse Eppes, a negro, received at the recent municipal election in Milwaukie, 153 votes for Mayor.

Mr. Ballou, editor of Ballou's Pictorial, has been sued for libel by Frank Leslie, of New York, editor of a rival pictorial.

A Hartford paper gives the following "signs o the times" to be found in that city: "Washing and going out to days work, done here;" "Breakfast, dinner and supper, at all hours;" and "Saws filed, and set up stairs."

A conflagration occurred in Nashville, Tenn., April 24th, in which several buildings were destroyed. Loss $300,000.

At Bardstown, Ky., on the 19th of April, another destructive fire occurred. Loss $60,000.

By the mail which recently arrived from the Atlantic seaboard, we have intelligence to the 4th of May. The intelligence from Europe shows a state of peace,—in fact, one of the papers laconically sums up the intelligence by stating that Cotton is up and Bread down. The question of enlistment was postponed in Parliament on account of the absence of Lord Clarendon. Domestic intelligence is not of great importance. It is said that our government is about to demand speedy redress from New Granada for past injuries, as well as security against further encroachments.

It appears from some correspondence which was intercepted, that Great Britain is somewhat implicated in the affairs of Costa Rica against Walker; and it is also stated, on authority, that most of Walker's troops, at the battle of Rivas, fell by the hands of English and German soldiers,

EUREKA No. 2, OF STOCKTON.—From a letter to Capt. F. E. R Whitney, we learn that this company have concluded, in view of the excitement at present existing in this city, to defer their contemplated visit. We understand that those having their reception in charge have suggested the 3d of July as a proper time for the visit; should the Eurekas conclude to postpone their trip until the glorious Fourth, we can assure them a "happy time," which is a very expressive term when used in connection with the San Francisco Fire Department.

NEW HOSE.—During the past few days quite a number of subscriptions have been received for the purchase of new hose for the Department. Several of our prominent merchants have contributed quite liberally, and with the handsome donation from the Insurance companies, the fund now amounts to a considerable sum. During the coming week it is confidently expected that sufficient money will be raised to warrant the purchase of the greater portion of the new hose now in this market.

PENSYLVANIA 12.—The election of a Foreman of this Company, to fill the place vacated by E. T. Batturs Esq., who has recently resigned, took place upon the 5th instant; and John Hanna Esq. has been elected in his stead. Every one acquainted with Mr. Batturs, knows that he was not only a faithful and trustworthy citizen, but an acquisition to the Fire Department of this city, and highly esteemed amongst the members of his company. His place has been filled, however, by one perfectly competent for the position, and who will reflect as much credit upon No.12 as his predecessor.

ST. FRANCIS.—John Berry Esq. of the firm of Berry & Co., Engine builders, was, on Thursday evening last, elected a member of the Board of Delegates, from St. Francis Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, vice Henry Hanks, resigned. We understand that Mr. Hanks intends to pay a visit to the Eastern States, by the next steamer.

SAN FRANCIS HOOK AND LADDER CO. No. 1—The benefit in aid of the St. Francis Hook and Ladder Co. takes place on Thursday evening next at the Metropolitan Theatre. The performance, as will be seen by the advertisement, are to be of an excellent character. The St. Francis was the second organized company in the department, has ever been prompt in the execution of duty, and always maintained an enviable reputation in the organization for efficiency and good order. We hope the benefit will be profitable

HOWARD 3.—The building for the use of the Howards, in California street, is being rapidly put in order for their reception, and when completed will make quite comfortable quarters. The Howards are deserving of a better house, but for what they have received they are truly grateful.

News per Sierra Nevada.

The Steamship Sierra Nevada arrived yesterday, with later news from the Atlantic States and Nicaragua. The intelligence is not very important, but quite interesting.

A difficulty occurred at Williard's Hotel, Washington, between Hon Phil. T. Herbert, member of Congress from California, and a waiter at the Hotel, which resulted in Mr. Herbert's shooting the latter, killing him instantly. Mr. Herbert had an examination before the United States Commissioners, which lasted for five hours; the decision was deferred until the following day.

It was thought that Mr. H. would be exonerated.

Mr. Buchanan has replied to a Committee of Citizens at Lancaster Pa, and defined his position upon the great National questions. He reaffirms the doctrine that the country must look to the Democratic party for the preservation of the Constitution, deprecates all future agitation of the slavery question. Is of the opinion that the repeal of the Missouri Compromise was right, in fact answers all the questions like a true Union man

It was thought that the United States would immediately recognize the Rivas Walker government; and receive the new Minister.

Large public meetings had been held in New York and New Orleans, of the sympathisers with Walker. In New Orleans large subscriptions were taken up, as the commencement of an effort to raise $250,000; which it is said will be a sufficient sum to secure success in Nicaragua.

Thirty-three deaths occurred on the Sierra Nevada on her passage up. The Costa Ricans have retreated back into Costa Rica; some 1,200 out of 1,700, are reported killed and dead from cholera and other diseases. The Transit is free and unobstructed. Edmund Randolph has been quite ill with fever, but is reported to have recovered and left for New York.

Captain James Walker, brother of General William Walker, died at Massaya, on May 15th, of inflammatory rhumatism. Two deserters were shot, on the Plaza, on May 10th; they had previously been tried by a Court Martial, and sentenced to death.

On May 3d, a court martial was held at Virgin Bay upon Col. Louis Schlessinger. He was found guilty of ignorance of his duties as a commander, of cowardice before the enemy and of desertion. He was therefore degraded from the rank of Colonel, and was condemned to be shot as a deserter wherever found, and to be publiahed as such through the civilized world. The Nicaraugeuse says:—During the trial Col. Schlessinger was allowed to go at large on his parole of honor, restricted, however, to the bounds of the city guard. Soon after the privilege was granted, and before the decision of the Court was known, he fled from town, breaking his plighted word, thereby affording his own testimony in favor of the decision of the court martial.

CELEBRATION OF THE LAFAYETTE HOOK AND LADDER CO. No. 2.—The anniversary celebration of the Hook and Ladder Company No. 2, took place at the Pacific Garden, on Monday last. Indisposition prevented us from participating in the pleasures of the festivity, but we learn that the whole affair passed off in the most happy and agreeable manner. Those who remember the joyous and "exhilerated" throng that attended the last anniversary, will agree with us that the Lafayettes excel in getting up their festivals; all enter into the details with characteristic zeal and enthusiasm and the most perfect success crown their efforts. We trust that we may have the pleasure of participating in many such re-unions with our gallant friends

MONUMENTAL 6.—This Company was out for drill on Thursday evening last Their powerful engine worked admirably. It is the opinion of the Company that the engine was never in more perfect order than at present.

VOLUNTEER 7.—The following gentlemen were elected officers of this efficient Company, at a meeting held on Thursday evening: Foreman, J C. Lane; 1st Assistant Foreman, G. W. Shaw; 2d Assistant Foreman, J. S Eells; Secretary, J. D. Van Buren; Treasurer, George Reed.

☞ In calling attention to Dr. Guysott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, we feel confident we are doing a service to all who may be affected with scrofulous or other disorders, originating in hereditary taint, or impurity of the blood. We have known instances where the most formidable distempers have been cured by the use of Guysott's improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla alone. It is one of the few advertised medicines that cannot be stigmatized with quackery, for the "Yellow Dock" and "Sarsaparilla" are well-known to be the most efficient [and at the same time innoxious] agents in the whole Materia Medica, and by far the best and purest preparation of them, is Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. Purchasers ought to be careful to ask for and take none but "Dr. Guysott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla." See advertisement.

AND FIREMAN'S JOURNAL.

SAN FRANCISCO

SATURDAY MORNING, June 7, 1856.

The Military.

No. IX.

Since the moments of madness which the past few days have witnessed have passed away, it behooves such of us who are citizens, especially the citizen-soldier, to look at the position in which we have placed ourselves before the world. To examine the inroads which we have made upon our republican form of government—as when the mariner gets into dangerous soundings he throws out his lead and line, carefully and minutely watching the progress of his bark through rocks and quicksands, lest it be dashed to pieces.

But a short time since we possessed a military organization acting under the State law and the State authorities, composed of ten companies of foot, horse and artillery, comprising our best citizens. They were armed with weapons belonging to the State, equipped at their own expense, acting under the Federal and State Laws, officered by men holding commissions under State authority, sworn to observe the Constitution and laws of the State, and to be obedient to the commands of their superiors.

Now, there is remaining but a broken remnant of that fine body, disbanded—mortified. How comes this? Did any emergency arise for their aid? Did they shrink from their duty and prove themselves faithless to the trust imposed on them? I shall answer.

The story is brief and needs no comment. A great wrong was said to have been perpetrated against society by the shooting down of a valued citizen, in the public highways of our city. In consequence of the wrong, the friends of the injured man endeavor to produce a subversion of the law, and to undetake summ ry vengeance upon the offender.

It is said that riot was inevitable; the Mayor called upon the military to be in readiness to suppress it They obeyed the summons made upon them by the authorities, and for the while the city is quiet through their aid. But a secret body of thirty-five men, meet for the purpose of wresting the prisoners out of the hands of the authorities; these thirty-five men call to their aid three thousand others, composed of the various conflicting elements which are embodied in our society.

Citizen and alien, friends to our country and foes alike, join in arms as if for battle array. They bind themselves by a secret oath to set aside the Constitution and the law; they possess themselves of arms; they fix upon the Sabbath day, when all is still, to perform their work of subversion, and armed with cannon and with bristling bayonets they advance through the streets of our city. Amongst them mingled the officer sworn to observe the law, and the alien who hated it; the citizen imbued with the spirit of revenge, and the transported French soldiers, who had remained long enough in France to be parties to the downfall of the republic by their acts of turpitude. French, German, English and Scotch, a vast majority of them aliens to our laws and government, joined in the mass, and no doubt prided themselves upon the fact that the opportunity was afforded them of showing how weak was our republican form of government, and how easily subverted was the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the State of California. But there was a worse purpose than even this for which they were called out; they went to meet the foe—to butcher the citizen-soldiery who might have been called out to support what they were bound to do, the Constitution and the laws.

But these misguided people could not be blamed for their acts for—

"Whoever comes within a tyrant's door,
Becomes his slave, though he were free before."

They thought, perhaps, of the position of Scipio when the party of Grachus cried out to kill the tyrant. "No wonder," said Scipio, "that they who would make war upon this country, would kill me first; for as Rome cannot fall while Scipio stands, nor can Scipio live when Rome is fallen."

It was a painful spectacle to witness, and yet all these things happened in a city of a State of the American Confederacy, and under the eyes of His Excellency J. Neely Johnson, Governor of the State of California, and Mayor Van Ness, of whom it is alleged that they ascended the dome of the International to witness through a spy-glass the catastrophe of the State Government and Constitution being trampled under foot. Oh, shame, where is thy blush!

The useless militia, of course, did not meet therefore, because they were not required to do so, but disbanded and broken, have surrendered up their power to the divisions of the insurgents. Their's are consequently empty titles, and if they meet at all

'Twill be for holiday show.

It may be well for us even to learn a lesson of wisdom from all these things. It exhibits the weakness of our condition, when our citizen-soldiers must give way to aliens. Not because the former were faithless to the laws of their country, but because the latter are.

The day of calm reflection must come when these facts will be considered by the citizen, and things will be placed in their proper light.

If the foreign merchants or capitalists who clamored so loudly against our laws, and who stood up against our Constitution, would pay to the State the legitimate taxes of government which they have so long withheld from us, and learn to contribute as much to the support of a defence for our municipal government as they contributed to the maintenance of the Vigilance Committee, we would soon have sufficient security for the life and property of the citizen.

It may be asked, what business has the citizen-soldier to interfere in those matters? Who has a better right to examine into the condition of society and of government than the citizen-soldier? he who not only undertakes the duty which the State imposes, of taking up arms for its defence without fee or reward, but who at the same time adds to the welfare of society as one of its active fellow-workers. Has he no obligations to fulfil who takes upon himself the responsibility of voluntarily defending the Constitution and laws from infraction? Is a solemn oath, taken with all the form and ceremony which the law implies, and for the breach of which he would subject himself to the penalties of that law—of such little importance as to be broken at will? or, is he to leave himself to be pointed out with the finger of scorn as a perjurer?

Has the citizen-soldier no right of complaint when he finds that bodies of armed men acting against the law—acting in defiance of the Constitution—and in opposition to the citizen-soldier, nay more—bound, whenever the emergency arise, of slaying him to make way for the encroachments of riot?

When he finds, I say, two thousand men, acting under an irresponsible body, under arms in this city, assuming the rights and duties which devolve on the citizen-soldier.

But, it may be said, perhaps, they cannot be trusted. When they were tried, did they ever fail to do their duty?

Must it not bring the blush to the cheek of every man, from the Commander-in Chief of the militia down to the private, to witness such a state of things?

JURISCONSULT.

Our city has, since the announcement by the Governor, of martial law being proclaimed, assumed quite a military appearance.

It is understood that about two thousand men have taken up arms and enrolled themselves under the State authorities, in companies, numbering from eighty to a hundred men each; and the recuiting service is in no wise flagging.

We have, therefore, in our midst two military organizations; that attached to the Vigilance Committee, and not recognized by law; and the regular volunteer force of the State, called out under the Governor's proclamation or already existing.

That two military organizations can exist in this country without a collision, is impossible; and, therefore, it is to be feared that something may arise to bring on a conflict between the insurgents, and the State authorities; a thing which it is to be hoped the good sense of men will prevent. But it is certain that both cannot continue, and the sooner one of them is disbanded the better for the quite of the city. The State authorities have taken the stand which they were necessarily driven into, and they cannot recede from it without disgrace and their utter overthrow. It is folly to say they cannot get assistance from other counties of the State; they have been offered assistance: and should this prove insufficient, why, then they can apply to the United States for aid. The State is able to meet any emergency which may arise; but it is to be hoped that no reason will be afforded for their using their power.

We think that no good can come from the continuance of an organization acting in opposition to the State authorities, and hope better counsels will prevail, and that the Vigilance Committee will dissolve its military organization.

It is useless to say that the government cannot find sufficient aid from the people, or find men of the proper mettle to engage in a conflict. They have at this time a body of men of known valor, acting under distinguished leaders, and their ranks are fast progressing; besides, they cannot retain their position two hours, if a conflict should arise, and then what utter destruction of property it would cause if they should hold out against the authorities.

The United States officers have taken possession of a number of guns which are at Rincon Point, and a proper guard has been stationed there to prevent their falling into the hands of the Vigilants.

We call upon them to look carefully before they bring us into a conflict, and involve us in a civil war.

J.

CAPTAIN CLARK.—Among those who returned to the home of their adoption by the last steamer, is Captain John A. Clark, commander of the Independent City Guard, a man beloved and respected by all who know him. Captain C. has been absent about five months, on a visit to his friends, and returns greatly improved by his trip. The change in his command which took place in his absence, although greatly surprising him, has met with his cordial approbation and he fully endorses every step taken by Lieut. Watson who has so nobly presided over the destinies of the Guard, in the absence of Capt. Clark.

Winn's Fountain Head,
CLAY STREET, OPPOSITE THE PLAZA

Search the city, North, South, East or West,
WINN'S 'FOUNTAIN HEAD' Saloon's by far the best;
You not only find a sumptous 'bill of fare,'
But your eyes also will be feasted there—
Rich Turkey carpets, soft as downy swan,
Glowing like sunset clouds, your feet rests on;
Whilst costly draperies in gay festoons,
Give an air of elegance to Winn's Saloon
You look in vain for if you go elsewhere—
Besides, you take your ease in rosewood chair,
With crimson velvet cushions, or on sofas rare;
Italian marble tables, polished fine,
Invite the hungry to sit down and dine
Or sup—or in the morning break their fast;
But whether it is morn or night, a rich repast
Awaits the visitors, subject to their call;
And whether five or five hundred, "Winn" can serve them all
Fine venison steaks, done up in Winn's best tyle,
That would from epicurian force a smile;
Oysters serv'd up in all ways you can name;
All kinds of fowls, the wild as well as tame,
Ducks, geese and partridges, fine fat snipe and teal;
Choice mutton chops, beef steak and tender veal
Fish of all kinds served up to suit the guest,
For each one knows which way fish suits him best;
Soups of all grades, from turtle down to pea,
But all as good as any soup can be;
Eggs, Ham and Cutlets—but it would be no boast
To say no Restaurant on the Pacific coast
Can with "Winn's Fountain Head" at all compare.
If you doubt it, call in and try his bill of fare.
Winn's Pastry can't be match'd, and his Creams
Are so superior that it almost seems
Impossible such could be made by human hands,
But came direct from fabled fairy lands.
For the Christmas Holidays for girls and boys,
Winn will have ready a thousand sugar toys,
Of every kind intended to delight
The prattlers hearts and glad their joyous sight.
Let every man and woman who this may read,
Be sure to visit Winn at the "Fountain Head,"
Whose cook stands always ready to prepare
The choicest dishes e'er named on Bill of Fare.

Having been appointed Agents in California for the above old established Company, the undersigned are desirous of drawing public attention to the superior advantages afforded by insuring in this office. These arise from the fact that the Agents of this Company are vested with full powers to grant policies, and to settle losses at once, and without being obliged to forward the papers to England for approval.

The Imperial Fire Insurance Company, having for many years had Agencies established in India, China, Manilla, etc., have had great experience in foreign business, and the instructions received from the Head Office evince a spirit of liberality which will be appreciated by the inhabitant of San Francisco.

The undersigned will be happy to supply insurers with full particulars, upon application at their office.

WHALING & KENT'S

General Undertaking

—AND—

Furnishing Establishment,

161 Sacramento St., 2 doors below Kearny,

SAN FRANCISCO.

J. HORACE KENT begs leave to announce to the public that in connection with his office as County Coroner, he has purchased from Thos. B. Cunningham, his entire interest in the concern of Jno. W. Whaling & Co., Undertakers, and that the style of the firm hereafter will be

WHALING & KENT,

The establishment having been thoroughly refitted, we are now prepared at all times to attend to funerals with promptness and dispatch, having received a large invoice of Undertakers' goods by late arrivals from New York.—Having also on hand a large stock of

LEAD AND METALLIC COFFINS,

We are at all times prepared to disinter bodies and prepare them so that they can be forwarded with safety to any part of the world, without danger of further decomposition.

FISK'S

Patent Metalic Burial Cases,

AND CORSE PRESERVERS.

The subscribers having received the right of sale of the above Burial Cases, and are prepared to furnish them to Undertakers and others at a small advance upon cost price in the Atlantic States.

The advantages claimed in the use of "Fisk's Metalic Coffins" for preserving the dead, over all others in use are, First, that they necessarily cost very little over the price charged for coffins made of the ordinary woods, and that the manner of using them is so simple that any person can do so by following the directions which ac company each case; and lastly, because they answer the purposes they were originally intended or designed for, viz: the preservation of the human body from decomposition after death, so that it can be forwarded to any part of the world with safety, allowing sufficient time to gratify surviving friends who may be absent, and thereby enabling them to take a last fond look of the dead without offending the most delicate or sensitive. We have witnessed the preservative qualities of these coffins a number of times, in cases where it became excessary to convey the corpse to a distance and never in a single instance have known them to fail in all that is claimed for them.

Being perfectly air tight, the body once placed in them retained its natural appearance, without disturbing or disfiguring it in the least, and will remain so for a number of years, if proper care is taken so as to prevent the case from getting broken. And we further state that it is only necessary to give them a trial in order to satisfy the most sceptical.

MINOR COMMISSIONS

—OR—

GENERAL PURCHASING AGENCY,

For the execution of orders for single articles of every description; i. e., Minor Personal Commissions, as distinguished from Dealers' Orders.

Having for the past three years successfully conducted a similar business in this city, the subscriber now offers his services to the non-residents generally in all sections of the State.

An agency of this character has become a requirement o the time, and is in keeping with the Express facilities which now extend to all parts of the State. For such a business, the subscriber claims to be well fitted by experience, taste, tact, education and business acquaintance; while a long connection with Expresses, affords the means of prompt transmission in every direction.

Orders promptly and carefully executed for all kinds of Merchandize, Books, Prints, Music, Scientific and Agricultural Instruments, Tools, Machinery, Weapons, Sporting Implements, Jewelry, Silverware, Drugs, &c.; Clothing, Fancy Articles, and Family Supplies; objects of Taste and Art, Ladies' Wear, etc.

The Best Professional Aid is secured, where required, as in purchasing Pianos and other Musical Instruments, Paintings, etc.

For orders of small amount, goods can be paid for on delivery by Express; larger amounts will require a remittance on account, or a city reference.

As the aggregate amount of orders secures the usual trade allowance with wholesale dealers, parties can have their commissions filled on as good or better terms than could be obtained by each singly.

All orders should be as explicit as possible, in essential particulars.

Orders may be given in French, Spanish or German.

—COMMISSION CHARGES:—
